Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 01-07-2005 has been entered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 131-134 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Cottonceau, et al.-5375612.

Cottonceau discloses a blood filter having a self-expanding wire frame of linked filaments and a membrane 9 formed of an absorbable suture thread which closes off the proximal end of the filter. See fig. 15 and col. 2 lines 8-35; col. 3 lines 19-32; col. 4 lines 33-39.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 101 and 107-109 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Chin, et al.-5928260 in view of Dubrul-6258115.

Art Unit: 3731

Chin discloses a blood filter having embodiments with proximal and distal ends separated by a middle portion forming an apex when the filter is expanded to an enlarged configuration. See fig. 14f and fig. 17. A proximal portion of the frame is covered by a membrane which would allow for tissue ingrowth. However, the specific porosity of the membrane is not disclosed. Dubrul discloses that it was known to provide filter material having a porosity which could filter out 2-300 micron particles. It would have been obvious to have provided a filter material in the claimed porosity, as this would allow for the passage of blood therethrough and would allow for the blockage of particles in this size range which can be detrimental to a patient's health.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 38-45, 51-98, 129 and 130 are allowed.

Claims 106 and 135 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: the prior art does not disclose or fairly suggest a containment device having supports which move from a parallel configuration to an inclined orientation having an apex in the central portion and an endothelialization membrane on the device wherein the membrane has a membrane on each side of the supports and a bonding layer bonding the two layers together.

Art Unit: 3731

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to the rejected claims have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
